Finegold upsets Wesson; Birnbach, Girdwood win school board slots

Fox wins Housing slot; Doherty remains moderator

By Neil Fater

ANDOVER VOTES '95 ELECTION

Using phone calls, postcards and poll-checking, Barry Finegold out-hustled, outspent and ultimately unseated 12-year incumbent Charles Wesson to garner a seat on Andover's Board of Selectmen Monday. Mr. Finegold's 2,089 town-election votes earned him a place next to incumbent Jerry Silverman (1,864 votes) on the board, and knocked off Mr. Wesson and challenger Bill Coderre.

But Mr. Finegold's was not the only story once the placards were set down and the votes were cast.

In the School Committee race, David Birnbach and Tina Girdwood convincingly triumphed over Bill Josephson, in what interested parties were calling a clear message to the current committee. Mr. Josephson's views often closely mirrored those of the sitting committee members.

Celebrating at Ms. Girdwood's house following the election, Madhu Sridhar, co-president of the Townwide Parent-Teacher Organization, said she's "looking forward to better communication with all the committees in town, but especially with the School Committee."

In other races, 23-year-old Jason Fox squeaked past Mark Courtney by 78 votes, to become a member of the Housing Authority. The official tally was 1,672 to 1,594, with 449 blank ballots and seven write-in candidates.

Jim Doherty easily outpaced John Doyle for town meeting moderator, 2,680 to 826.

"My career in this thing has been interesting. I have never had a sure-fire idea that I was going to win," said Mr. Doyle, who has become an annual sparring partner with Mr. Doherty. Mr. Doyle said he continues to run "because I see town meeting entirely different

While some residents voted in the town election Monday, Andover school children had a half day off. During so-called early-release days, downtown Andover is alive with students walking the sidewalks and frequenting the shops and restaurants. Merchants sometimes complain about early-release days.

Interviews with the five superintendent finalists

By Neil Fater

Superintendent search committee rated the finalists: See page 31

Officials said they would speed up the selection process for Andover's next superintendent of schools because some of the five finalists are also candidates in other communities. They weren't kidding.

The School Committee will interview finalists this coming Monday, Thursday and Friday, April 3, 6 and 7. Following these interviews, candidates the committee is still considering will go on school site visits to meet with students, parents, teachers and other interested parties, said

Senior Center expansion decision lies in hands of Town Meeting and school board

By Neil Fater

The future of the Senior Center expansion project lies equally in the hands of the School Committee and residents who plan to attend April Town Meeting.

Article 29 on the Town Meeting warrant asks citizens to transfer control of land adjacent to parts of Doherty Middle School and its auditorium from the School Committee to the selectmen, so Andover can expand its Senior Center. Both Town Meeting and the School Committee have to support the transfer for selectmen to gain control, according to Thomas Urbelis, town counsel.

If they don't both support the transfer?

"I think that the seniors will be looking at other options again. It's becoming tiresome

Congregation Tifereth Israel recently ran a fund-raiser raffle. Ticket sales were limited to 100. There was only one winner who could choose between a $3,000 grand prize or a trip for two to Israel. The winner was none other than the group's religious leader, Cantor Jeff Cornblatt. Cantor Cornblatt is deciding between the two prizes but is leaning toward the trip.

Combining the desire to keep the memory of his favorite breakfast hang-out alive with the task of writing a business book that wouldn't put people to sleep, author Ron Ploof used Ford's Coffee Shop as a setting for three scenes of his new business novel, The Edison Effect.

"A lot of non-fiction books don't get read past the first chapter," said Mr. Ploof. His book uses a fictional story to teach entrepreneurial skills, self-management and success strategies.

Mr. Ploof discovered Ford's when he was a student at Merrimack College. Now living in Tewksbury, he was a regular at the coffee shop until its closing last April.

"I ate breakfast every morning there for 15 years," said Mr. Ploof. "It was a great place for friends to meet, and I wanted to make sure that its memory was recorded for posterity."

Mr. Ploof will be signing copies of his book at Waldenbooks, on Main Street, Saturday, April 8, from 10 a.m. to noon.

The Methuen Downtown Association recently announced that Lindsay Anne Rosentrater, 5, of Methuen, and Jeffrey Sirois, 4, of Andover were the winners of the 1995 Methuen "Little Shamrock Sweethearts." The pair will reign as Shamrock Sweethearts for the next year.

Jeffrey, who was born in Methuen, is the son of Elaine and Steve Sirois of Andover. He has an older brother, Ryan. His grandparents are Yvette and Louis Sirois of Andover.

Each child received official citations from the Massachusetts State Senate and a $50 savings bond. They also received official citations from the House of Representatives and additional $50 savings bonds, and gifts donated by Methuen merchants.

Larisa Willey of Andover has been selected the spring State House intern for Rep. Gary M. Coon.

"Larisa is a welcome addition to my staff," said Rep. Coon. "This internship enables students to gain valuable exposure to the daily functions of state government."

Ms. Willey will assist Rep. Coon and legislative aide Walter Radulski in running the Boston office, and will help with legislative tracking, constituent services and researching legislation.

"The Republican leader's office is a fast-paced, exciting environment to work in," Ms. Willey said.

The junior at Regis College in Weston is pursuing a degree in history.

Heather Berquist, a fifth-grader at Sanborn, delighted town selectmen and officials at the March 6 Board of Selectmen's meeting with her social studies project, Carmen and Her Band of Revolutionaries.

In it, Heather sends the town leaders into danger, as Carmen Sandiego kidnaps the town's selectmen, School Committee and manager, and steals the town charter as well. Chaos follows in Andover, as town streets aren't plowed, a race track is built in front of the Historical Society and the school budget drops to zero.

The town officials are eventually recovered in England after a mad chase through Canada, Europe and Asia. Town officials do get a chance to fish on the St. Lawrence River though, while the town manager does some awesome bird-watching.

"I thought it was absolutely fantastic," said Selectman Charles Wesson of the inventive short story. "The young lady did an outstanding job."

Selectmen signed citations at their Monday, March 13, meeting, recognizing the birthdays of two sisters, both long-time Andover residents.

Selectman Larry Larsen read the citations, which offer "our heartiest congratulations" on the milestones of the 104th birthday of Henrietta Jacques and the 98th birthday of Margaret Jacques. He read of their caring and contributions to friends and family, and offered his best wishes that they may celebrate their 105th and 99th birthdays in the year of the town's 350th anniversary.

Senior Center expansion decision lies in the hands of Town Meeting and School Committee and eternal," said Larry Larsen, selectman. "With the graying of us all there's going to be a need for a better set-up."

If the current plan does not get a collective thumbs-up, Dr. Larsen said Andover will need to take a serious look at what it can do to help its elderly population.

Supporters of Senior Center expansion say the project will create a large function room to hold approximately 300 to 350 people, and provide other space to allow for program growth and an expansion of the adult day-care facility

"They have such little space there, they can't do much with programming," said Dr. Larsen. "If you go to some well-developed senior centers, we have not kept pace. It's simple."

The center currently has items such as pool tables and pottery equipment in storage because there is no space to house such items, said Sharon Souza, former Council on Aging director.

However, school officials have concerns of their own. With student enrollment numbers growing, School Committee members say they may need the space around Doherty to expand the middle school. The committee wants to make sure there will be a place for Doherty to expand before it relinquishes control of the land.

The School Committee has not taken a vote on Article 29, nor has it set a date to do so. It will either make a decision at its April 4 meeting or just before Town Meeting, Susan Dalton, member, said Tuesday.

Members of the School Committee, the Board of Selectmen, and the Council on Aging met with Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, recently to discuss the transfer of the land, said Dr. Larsen.

"We just wanted to sit down and have a friendly chat with them and that was it," said Dorothy Bresnahan, Council on Aging chairwoman. "There was no decision made."

Ms. Bresnahan said the council is hoping to get a large number of seniors to Town Meeting and is looking for the support of "the sandwich generation," those between the ages of 40 and 55, who she said are most likely to benefit from an expanded center.

If given the land to expand, Council on Aging members say they will raise the money necessary to fund the project.

Dr. Larsen said the seniors have talked to a fund-raising consultant who advised them how to raise the necessary funds, but he and other officials recognize it may take some time to raise the millions of dollars they need.

"They think they can raise money quickly and it would be wonderful if they could," said Jerry Silverman, selectman. "I haven't seen people raising money for anything quickly around here."

Article 28 necessary, too

Although the dual-approval of Article 29 will be the more difficult piece, Town Meeting must also approve Article 28 for the expansion project to go forward.

Article 28 asks residents to allow the town to amend its agreement with Andover Offices Associates Limited Partnership to allow for expansion. Andover leases some of the building space the seniors are eying from Andover Offices. Andover Offices renovated part of the building for the town and the town is, in effect, paying the group back through its lease, which runs out in 1999, said officials. At that time, the town will buy the space back for a nominal fee.

Dr. Larsen said he believes Andover Offices will alter its agreement as long as the seniors pay for the expansion.

"We don't anticipate any problems with that, but that hasn't been worked out since we don't have Town Meeting authorization yet," said Mr. Urbelis.

"I would say that we probably would not add any time at all" onto the lease, said Mr. Silverman. "We wouldn't add time, we wouldn't add money.

"Our hope is they would grant us the use of whatever we do on the property. A lot of things have to happen first," he said.

Here's a chance to Learn About Shawsheen Night

By Neil Fater

Parents commonly think of the first day of school as a turning point in their child's life, but for those who are considering sending their son or daughter to Shawsheen School in the fall, next Thursday, April 6, may prove just as significant.

Andover parents can choose to send their young children to Shawsheen, a kindergarten through grade 2 school, rather than to their neighborhood school. Shawsheen is hosting a "Learn About Shawsheen Night" and preliminary registration opportunity for interested parents April 6.

From 7 until 8 p.m., prospective parents can talk with current Shawsheen students, parents and teachers in the school's classrooms. At 8 p.m., a panel representing the administration, the staff and parents will answer questions and talk about what makes Shawsheen unique.

Theresa Murphy, administrator of Shawsheen, said the school's interdisciplinary approach, and its focus on a fully integrated curriculum makes the school different. "You have a student population and the teachers and myself who are focussed on an integrated curriculum and are willing to go the extra mile to make it work," said Ms. Murphy. "Our art, music and physical education teachers all coordinate with the classroom teachers on a particular theme.

"All of the classes have parents who work regularly with the classroom teachers," she said. "We have a very strong parent group because parents have chosen to send their children here."

While April 6 may be an important day for some interested parents, it may also be a crucial day for school administrators who are counting on an at- or near-capacity enrollment at Shawsheen to help lower population numbers in other elementary schools.

The School Committee also voted this school year to make Shawsheen a so-called managed magnet school to handle specific crowded schools.

"If there are fewer seats than there are applicants, then the students from the overcrowded schools, Bancroft and West, would receive preference" and be allowed into Shawsheen first, said Ms. Murphy. However, students in a district such as South, that also has some large classes, may receive preferential treatment as well.

"The administration does have the flexibility to manage this in the most equitable way," said Ms. Murphy. "Our being at full enrollment here certainly helps the other schools."

His first two Discovery records releases charted in the Top 5 on national radio charts and his latest recording has debuted to outstanding reviews. Officials want to avoid Town Meeting trouble

Second school budget hearing scheduled for next week

By Neil Fater

With the scrutiny of Town Meeting fewer than two weeks away, selectmen and School Committee members are still working to find common ground regarding the Andover schools' budget.

The School Committee-supported budget is currently $466,000 higher than the town manager's recommended school budget. However Jerry Silverman, selectman, said he spoke with Finance Committee members recently and believes the schools and town might "draw a little bit closer than we are right now."

"We've got to get it closer than where we are, or we're going to end up with a catastrophe at Town Meeting," said Lloyd Willey, School Committee member.

As a means to inform the public about the items included in the school budgets, the School Committee will have a televised budget hearing at Memorial Hall Library on Wednesday, April 5, at 7 p.m. Mr. Willey encouraged community members to ask questions.

"The whole purpose is to make sure everyone's aware and understands the issue as to why there's a discrepancy," said Mr. Willey.

Not a single resident posed a question during the recent School Committee public hearing on its budget.

According to officials, budget talks stopped recently while officials waited to see how election results would change the complexion of the two boards. Now that the elections are over, they expect negotiation to quickly recommence.

Selectmen and School Committee members still have "a long way to go to put it together, but we all want to," said Mr. Willey.

Sarkisians open new driving range on Chandler Road

By Joan Brown

Golf experts agree – the only way to improve is to practice, practice, practice.

Using the Saturday afternoon game as a practice session isn't enough, though using the "just practicing" angle might serve as an excuse for a poor score.

With the opening of Andover's largest driving range, golfers no longer have an excuse.

Sarkisian Farms Driving Range, located next to the Sarkisian Farms greenhouses on Chandler Road, opened March 18. Owned and operated by the Sarkisian family, the range offers 40 tee areas, including some grass tees, and a putting green

"We have state-of the-art mats that provide a real feel for irons," said Jeff Sarkisian, son of owners Sarkis and Rita Sarkisian.

These mats are on 33 of the tee areas that line the 250-yard range. The range also has lights for evening use, and offers slots for both left- and right-handed golfers.

"We've got a tremendous response, even though it's cold," said Ms. Sarkisian. "It's really a nice set-up."

Already, the range has quite a following among the employees at nearby offices and companies.

Still in their three-piece suits, businessmen are not beyond using the range during their lunch break.

"To me, its unusual to see a guy in a necktie driving golf balls," said owner Sarkis Sarkisian. "One guy come in yesterday and hit 400 balls."

The Sarkisians have 24,000 golf balls for use on their range, and expect to up that amount to 50,000 by the time summer rolls around. Using a jumbo bucket of about 90 balls costs $8; a large bucket, about 60 balls, is $5. With either of these two

FINANCIAL STRATEGIES

by Ronald R. Hill, CLU, ChFC

TAKING YOUR LUMP SUMS

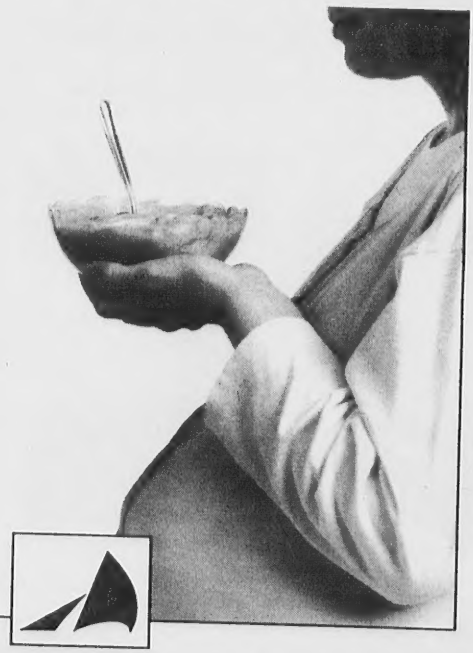

In the coming year, salaried workers are likelier to find that they are receiving lump-sum bonuses instead of salary increases. A survey of 2,700 large employers by a benefits consulting firm shows that 21 percent of them intend to give bonuses in lieu of raising salaries to at least some employee groups. That percentage is up from 14 percent the previous year. This shift in compensation strategy is based upon the fact that one-time bonuses help corporation contain labor costs. Bonuses do not raise employees' base pay, which is used for the purpose of computing such compensation ingredients as overtime and pension benefits. Mindful of this trend, employees should increasingly look to bonuses as a means of getting raises. The timing of these bonuses might be important for your overall financial planning. When the funds become available and in what amounts might have a lot to do with the investment choices that are made. Please give us a call if you would like to discuss a situation of this type, and our ideas for addressing it, so that you receive maximum benefit.

BAYSTATE FINANCIAL SERVICES is New England's oldest and largest full-service financial planning firm. Esai working to build production facility in West Andover

By Alix Driscoll

Eisai Research Institute of Boston, 4 Corporate Drive, is planning to purchase 26 acres of land at 100 Federal St., on the east side of Interstate 93, to build a pharmaceutical production facility.

"The pilot plant would be used for the production of bulk active ingredients to be used in clinical trials, " said Connie Kokubo, spokesperson for Eisai, although she said she could not officially confirm plans.

Official approval is needed first from the parent plant, Eisai Co. Ltd. in Tokyo, and Eisai America in New Jersey, she said.

"The company is working on strongly-synthetic, organic chemistry-based pharmaceutical research," said Ms. Kokubo.

She would not elaborate or be more specific.

Although the Japanese-based pharmaceutical firm has not officially announced the building of the new plant, or what it will be used for, representatives have come before the Zoning Board of Appeals and Conservation Commission. They have met informally with the town's building and planning departments.

Robert Pustell, the chairman of the Conservation Commission, said the company is going to build a new facility for 25 to 30 employees on the old Wang property on Federal Street.

Representatives of Eisai came before the ConsCom on March 21 to discuss their plans. Mr. Pustell said the ConsCom has a legitimate interest because there are wetlands and two ponds on the property. The company will build between the two ponds, he said.

"The original permit we gave to Wang stayed alive all these years. But it will not be the same office structure proposed by Wang. It will be a pilot plant with offices," said Mr. Pustell.

Presently Eisai has a campus-type primary-research facility employing 50 people on Corporate Drive.

The area where the company will build is zoned Industrial D, the most restrictive of the town's three industrial zones. The ID zone was set up in the 1950s as part of the town's master plan. The zoning regulations were "stiffened" in the late '70s with the intent of attracting high-tech firms to build in a campus-type setting.

"They picked the Federal Street site so that it can expand between research and development," said Steve Colyer, Andover's planning director. He said the company is in the product-testing phase.

Ms. Kokubo said hospital clinical trials for the components produced in Andover will be conducted by the New Jersey facility.

Kaija Gilmore, the town's building inspector, said last week she has only seen diagrams, not site plans or construction documents yet. The company came before the Zoning Board because of the need for approval of storage of liquids used by Eisai.

"The way they are going to store flammable liquids in an enclosed space is perfectly normal for the industry and was approved by the Zoning Board," said Ms. Gilmore.

Eisai is a privately controlled company. It does not yet produce a product that is used in this country, said Ms. Kokubo.

A small bucket, with about 34 balls, is also available for $3.

Just past the parking area and practice-putting green is the entrance to the new clubhouse. Complete with a snack bar, hungry golfers can get a quick lunch or snack. Hot dogs, salads, chips, snacks, soft drinks and ice cream are available. For patrons that need them, a full range of clubs line the clubhouse wall. Golfers are also welcome to use their own clubs on the tees.

Complete with a snack bar, hungry golfers can get a quick lunch or snack. Hot dogs, salads, chips, snacks, soft drinks and ice cream are available.

About three years ago, the family decided to put the land formerly occupied by older greenhouses and strawberry fields to a better use. The Sarkisians have been in the growing business on Chandler Road since 1933.

"Sarkis was born in that house," said Ms. Sarkisian, pointing to the white house at the entrance to the driving range.

Their old fruit and vegetable farm gave way to the present greenhouses and their successful gardening center. The driving range is a perfect complement to their gardening business, they said.

"As a family, we're people-oriented," said Ms. Sarkisian. "People that live nearby are so thrilled. They're golfers. They like to come."

Sarkisian Farms Driving Range is located at 159 Chandler Road. Hours currently are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., seven days a week. Summer hours, beginning in May, will be 8 a.m.-9 p.m. weekdays, 7 a.m.-9 p.m. weekends. The Sarkisians offer senior citizen discounts and golf lessons. Gift certificates and cooperate memberships are also available.

Your Dental HEALTH

by Richard D. Hopgood, D.M.D.
AT A LOSS FOR FLUORIDE
There is general agreement that fluoride in much of our drinking water is responsible for the significant reduction of tooth decay in this country's population in recent decades. Unfortunately, some people unknowingly circumvent fluoride's beneficial effect by drinking bottled water, which may not contain fluoride. As a matter of fact, when researchers at the University of Texas Dental Branch in Houston tested 39 brands of bottled water for fluoride content, they found that only five contained the recommended level. Moreover, the study also turned up the fact that home water filters utilizing the reverse osmosis process significantly decrease the fluoride content of tap water in the home.
Prevention is the beginning of good dental health. Through good habits like drinking fluoridated water, proper brushing and flossing, you have a lot of control over your dental health. One of the most important services we offer here at 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133 (with easy access off Rt 93), is a plan for preventive dental care, including counseling on nutrition, recommendations for oral hygiene products and how to use them. For complete family dental care, please call 475-2431. Hrs: Mon & Thur 10-8, Tues & Fri 8-6, & by appointment.
P.S. Fluoride is a mineral that helps prevent cavities by strengthening tooth enamel.

NEWS FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

By Dorothy Bresnahan

It is getting closer to count-down and we urge you to be at Town Meeting on Tuesday, April 11, at 7 p.m. to vote on the articles pertaining to the Senior Center. Please encourage your adult children/grandchildren who are eligible to be there and to urge their friends and neighbors to attend. This age group comprises the people who will most benefit from our efforts to assure them a senior center to which they can point with pride. True, they will no doubt need to expand in order to accommodate the burgeoning numbers of seniors needing services 10 years from now, but they will have a good, serviceable basis on which to grow. Day Surgery

IN & OUT FOR SAME DAY SERVICE

The LGH community is your family and ours.

COMFORT

The winter was long and hard and our son Alex had a sore throat it seemed all through the season. At our last visit to the pediatrician, the doctor suggested a tonsillectomy. She made arrangements for the Day Surgery team at Lawrence General to do the procedure. Off we went on a bright and sunny Tuesday morning in early spring. The staff made Alex feel special. They understood that while this might be one of hundreds of tonsillectomies they'd do this year, it was the only one our son was going to have. And the fact that he'd be in and out in one day made it so much easier on him and on us.

RESPECT

The doctors and nurses explained everything to us. I was especially impressed with the way they spoke directly to Alex. Being treated that way really seemed to calm him. But what mattered most was the way they treated our family. They used a smile as well as they used their high-tech surgical equipment, and it sure worked for us.

GETTING READY FOR THE HOME INSPECTION

If you are selling a home, the buyers will probably include a structural inspection clause in the purchase agreement which will allow them to hire an expert to make sure that the house is structurally sound and that all the systems are working properly.

Get ready for the structural inspection before you sell your house! Owners usually know about all the defects in their house, such as plumbing or electrical problems or leaks that may occur when it rains. Repair any defects as soon as you decide to put your home on the market. Most purchase agreements require the sellers to convey the property with all systems and appliances in working order. You won't save money if you delay making repairs, and the buyers may be frightened away by a structural report which contains a long list of needed repairs. Eliminating maintenance items as possible issues in the sale will help the whole transaction to run as smoothly as possible.

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Century 21 Carriage House. Call us at 475-1243, or stop by our office at 10 High Street.

SCHOOLS

Cub Scouts from Pack 73 visited the Townsman's offices last Friday and saw how their newspaper is put together each week. The Scouts, who attend Bancroft School, are: (front row) James Hoopes and Tim Dugan, (middle row) Michael Kichorowsky and Phillip Connolly; (standing in back) Mark S. Brickman, Scott Silverstein and Ben Hoerner.

Performing artists visit West Elementary School

West Elementary students were treated to two performances this month. Jose Mateo's Ballet Theater of Boston gave the school a demonstration of the Cinderella ballet that was later performed at the Collins Center.

Dancers performed scenes of the ballet and discussed what goes into a theatrical production, from sets and props to makeup and costumes. The presentation is part of the ballet's community-outreach and audience-develpment program.

The Shirim Klezmer Orchestra brought the jazzy "Musical Journey" to grades 1-5. Students learned that Klezmer means musician in Yiddish; the music blends Middle Eastern traditions with the folk and dance beats of Russia, Rumania and Poland, overlaid with American jazz and ragtime.

Many students and teachers were surprised to learn they were familiar with this music from old cartoon soundtracks, particularly Betty Boop.

Christopher Fromme, left, and Aaryn Schmuhl, center, shown with Scoutmaster Jim Kearns, are from West Parish Church Troop 77. The two were recently awarded the rank of Eagle Scout. The Board of Selectmen presented both Scouts with a citation Monday night, March 20, in recognition of their achievements and contributions. Also receiving citations at the board meeting were three new Eagle Scouts from Ballardvale United Church Troop 76: Jason Paolino, Jeffrey Hall and Eric Milligan (not pictured).

Two Boy Scouts attain the rank of Eagle

Aaryn Schmuhl and Chris Fromme were awarded the Eagle rank, the highest honor in Scouting Tuesday, March 14.

Aaryn's Eagle project was an elderly-assistance program. He and several boys did odd jobs for four elderly members of West Parish Church. Aaryn is a vigil honor member of the Order of the Arrow/Nanepashemet Lodge. He has held several leadership positions for his troop, council training programs and the OA. He was the senior patrol leader for Troop 1308 at the 1993 National Jamboree; Chris was his assistant.

The 18-year-old senior at Andover High School is the son of Russell and Sandra Schmuhl. He plays volleyball, is a student advisory council rep and works with kindergartners at SHED.

Chris designed and painted a large mural on a gymnasium wall at the Lawrence YMCA as his Eagle project. He has been a senior patrol leader and is also a vigil honor member of Nanepashemet Lodge.

Chris is the son of Jill and Lance Fromme (also an Eagle Scout). The 17-year-old senior at Andover High School runs for the track team, participates in the school's community-service program, and is secretary/treasurer of the senior class.

Chris and Aaryn's favorite scout memories are: campout bonding; making each other laugh at three in the morning; going to Mount Snow and campouts at Bessie Goldsmith.

Four local students work to keep prom night safe

Todd Buonopane and Amy Hayner of Andover High School and Elizabeth Crawford and Raymond Marshall of the Greater Lawrence Technical School recently joined a brainstorming session called "Prom Night – Keep It Safe" at Arbella Mutual Insurance Co. in Quincy.

Fifty teens from across the state shared their ideas on how to prevent the growing number of underage drinking-and-driving accidents, which can turn many prom nights into tragic events.

The meeting was sponsored by Krooze Controlled, Arbella's campaign to prevent underage drinking, which provides peer-leadership training to young people so they can positively influence other youths engaged in high-risk behaviors such as drinking and driving.

Ideas generated by the teens are being distributed by Arbella to every high school in the state, the company said.

350th Committee extends an invitation to local quilters, brainstormers

Andover's 350th Anniversary Committee is looking for help in two areas – quilting and ideas.

The 1970s witnessed a great quilting revival in America and Andover is one of thousands of communities that can boast a bicentennial quilt. Quilting is a quintessential American art form and a 350th quilt would be a valued reminder of this important anniversary for future generations. The 350th Committee invites local quilters interested in volunteering for such a project to contact Norma Gammon at Memorial Hall Library.

Ideas for a legacy are also needed. What do residents think would be an appropriate and permanent reminder of Andover's birthday? Suggestions so far are as small as a park bench and as large as a park. Should the legacy be a physical object or a recurring annual event? Should it be a scholarship?

Ideas can be jotted on a postcard and sent to to Norma Gammon at Memorial Hall Library.

West Parish Church members portraying Jesus and nine of the 12 apostles practiced recently for the re-enactment of The Last Supper, which they will perform at the parish on Palm Sunday, April 9. Shown are, from left, Tim Turbett (as James), Art LaFord (Andrew), John Person (Judas), David McCallum (John), The Rev. Joe Ladu (Jesus), Jerry Greer (James), Adam Turbett (standing in for Don Leitch as Thomas), Steven Vano Johnson (Thaddeus) are missing from the photo.

The Living Last Supper will be at West Parish Palm Sunday

West Parish Church will present a dramatic re-enactment of the Last Supper, complete with costumes and painted backdrop, on Palm Sunday, April 9, at 7:30 p.m. and Maundy Thursday, April 13, at 7:30 p.m. The inspiration for this drama is Leonardo daVinci's painting of "The Last Supper," painted in the 15th century on the wall of the refectory of Santa Maria delle Grazie in Milan, Italy. The painting depicts the moment when Jesus announces to his disciples that "One of you will betray me." The disciples become men of 12 different moods and the drama begins.

Communion will be served by the disciples after the Maundy Thursday presentation.

Cast members include Pastor Joseph LaDu as Jesus and disciples Timothy Turbett, John Pearson, William Gale, David McCallum, Arthur LaFond, Aaron LaFond, Stephen Vano, Donald Leitch, Jerry Greer, Wayne Grant, Greg Litchfield and Ted Johnson. Robert diSalvo will play the part of Leonardo daVinci. Kathy LaDu and Jan Litchfield will be the narrators.

West Parish Church has a handicapped-access through the rear side door of the sanctuary from the rear parking lot.

UU service will discuss Jews led by Moses

The worship theme at the Unitarian Universalist Congregation in Andover this Sunday, April 2, at 10:30 a.m. will be "Liberty, What Now?"

This service is a preparation for the community Seder service, which will be held Saturday, April 15.

Havurat Shalom will host family Havdalah service

Havurat Shalom, a Reconstructionist Jewish Congregation, will host a family Havdalah service Saturday, April 1, at 5 p.m. at Trinitarian Church in North Andover.

Palm Sunday benefit concert

The First Church of Christ, 10 Church St., Bradford, will hold a Palm Sunday concert April 9 at 7 p.m. featuring tenor Tony DiPietro, accompanist Ken Lang and the Rev. Duane Windemiller doing commentaries. Thee is no admission fee, but there will be a free-will offering to benefit the church restoration fund.

Debbie Nault and her son, Ryan, 7, spent Sunday at BrookRidge Community Church last week, during the church's open house. The "up-beat music" and talk about everyday situations was appealing to Ms. Nault, she said.

BrookRidge Church hosts open house

BrookRidge Community Church held an open house at its new location, 16 Haverhill St., Sunday, March 26.

"The response from the public was not only wonderful, but it was an inspiration to everyone who attended," organizers said.

BrookRidge opened its doors to an overflow of adults and children. There was not one seat to be found, but in the true BrookRidge tradition, regular members gave their seats to their new guests. The service had a drama, a special message by Pastor Bill Watson, and music by the BRCC musicians.

Entertainment at the member-hosted reception was by Bill Buehler; "It's Magic"; and Henry Morse, "The Great Benafuchi.

Nathan Clements, 5, his face painted, enjoys the entertainment after last Sunday's service.

Rebecca Gagnon, 5, brother Sam, 7 months, and their mom, Kathleen Gagnon, of Andover, made a first visit to BrookRidge last Sunday mainly because it's interdenominational and Ms. Gagnon likes to see different races and ethnic backgrounds.

'Love of another' series

BrookRidge is presenting a series at 10:30 a.m. worship entitled "Love of Another." The topic this Sunday, April 2, is "Now that I married the wrong person."

Almost everyone who has walked the wedding aisle has come to the point in the development of the marriage relationship when they begin to say things like, "I think I made a mistake," "Did I marry the wrong person?" and, "Is the marriage fixable?" Sunday's topic deals with this state.

Consider These Thoughts

by Garry A. Burke

THE LOSS OF A MOTHER

While it might be untenable to compare one loss with another, is there anything that can compare to the loss of a mother? The relationship that begins as an inextricable bond of the flesh soon can be described in no other terms than those of unconditional love. When death takes the physical manifestation of this love, all that is left is to recall it with the emotion of the mind's eye. As Alphonse de Lamartine once said, "The loss of a mother is always severely felt: even though her health may incapacitate her from taking any active part in the care of her family, still she is a sweet rallying-point, around which affection and obedience, and a thousand tender endeavors to please, concentrate; and dreary is the blank when such a point is withdrawn."

Often when a death first occurs, we can't or don't wish to believe it. We believe that the deceased will walk through the door and that life will return to a normal pattern again. One of the first signs of recovery is acknowledging that a loss has occurred. Funeral rituals are effective in helping us acknowledge such a loss. For more information about funeral services, call BURKE FUNERAL HOME at 475-5200. We are located at 390 North Main Street.

Speaker to discuss role of birth order

Some say first-born children are more ambitious and third children are more laid-back. Find out if these and related theories are based on myth or science when Jack Agati presents his program, "Birth Order: How Your Place in the Family Affects Your View of the World," Thursday, April 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the West Elementary PTO meeting. Mr. Agati will discuss the characteristics associated with various positions in the family and how to avoid conflict between different styles of behavior. He will show how to bring out the positive characteristics of each birth position and apply these concepts to interaction between parents and children, teachers and students, spouse and spouse, and manager and employee.

Mr. Agati has worked in public education for more than 15 years as a teacher, counselor and director of special education.

He makes presentations about child development, and home- and classroom management strategies, and has appeared on television and radio programs.

The program will be held in the West Elementary cafeteria. Refreshments will be served.

Superindentent finalists

Finalists will probably tour one elementary school, one middle school and Andover High School, while meeting with representatives from the other schools, said Lloyd Willey, newly-appointed committee secretary.

"We're trying to look at them as quickly as possible," said Susan Dalton, who was elected chairwoman of the School Committee Tuesday night.

But those too impatient to wait until next week can get a sneak preview of the superintendent finalists below. The Townsman talked with each of the five men who may become Andover's next head of schools.

The five finalists come from an original group of 44 candidates that was whittled down to eight people the superintendent search committee decided to interview. According to Patty Barrett, committee member, each member gave these eight candidates a ranking of 1, 2 or 3. This eliminated three other candidates. She said the search committee did not submit the rankings of the candidates to the School Committee. It is now the School Committee's job to select the next superintendent from the remaining five, described briefly below:

John A. Krewer

John Krewer said he has visited Andover six times since he learned this autumn that a position might become available here, and said he "came away just very impressed with everything I heard and saw."

A strong proponent of community evaluations of superintendents, Dr. Krewer said he periodically speaks to educators about how to create such an evaluation.

"I believe every school district must have five-year goals that reflect the consensus of the community," and the community must frequently discuss whether it believes the superintendent is living up to the community's goals, said Dr. Krewer.

Dr. Krewer's current community, Woodstock, Conn., is smaller than Andover at 1,000 students, but he worked as an assistant to the superintendent in an 11,000-student district in Pennsylvania.

"I believe in being visible, out in the schools," said Dr. Krewer.

Woodstock is a bedroom town with very little industrial tax base, making passage of bond issue items difficult, according to a political watcher there. Mr. Krewer seemed excited about last year's passage of a $2 million bond item for technology.

"I think it's essential that the next superintendent be a curriculum leader," he said. "Technology has to be a dominant part of all of our planning."

Woodstock is a K-8 system, with the town paying tuition for students to attend Woodstock Academy, a private high school in town.

Dr. Krewer said he is a candidate for another superintendency.

He has 6-year-old twin boys and a 13-year-old and 15-year old daughter. Dr. Krewer will be interviewed by the School Committee Friday, April 7.

Dick Neal

Dick Neal, current interim superintendent and long-time Andover resident, is the known element in this race, a fact he considers one of his most attractive qualities.

"Whenever you're looking ahead to building on what you have, it's helpful to have an idea of the history," he said.

Mr. Neal is a South Church deacon and has served in almost every capacity within the Andover system. He said Andover's governing bodies will need to work more closely together over the next few years.

In 1988, Mr. Neal was the first recipient of Harvard's Derek Bok Prize, an award given annually for community service work.

The School Committee will interview him Monday, April 3.

R. Lloyd Jaeger

R. Lloyd Jaeger of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., is a former social studies teacher and department chairman, who moved up the educational ranks in New York school systems.

He left his position as superintendent of Hyde Park Central School District in November of 1994, the same month he began working as assistant to the district superintendent in Dutchess County, N.Y. Since the beginning of this year he has also worked as coordinator of an educational technology program at one of Long Island University's campuses.

Dr. Jaeger did not want to talk extensively before the School Committee had a chance to interview him, but lauded the Andover community and said, "I have no difficulty living in the community in which I work."

He said he has school-age children and stopped short of promising to live in Andover.

He will be publicly interviewed by the committee on Monday, April 3.

Dennis Pope

Describing himself as a thoughtful leader, not a manager, Dennis J. Pope of Concord, N.H., said he's not the type to climb a ladder only to find out he's on the wrong building.

He said he has dealt with financial situations similar to those brought about by Massachusetts Education Reform and unfunded state mandates while working as a superintendent in New Hampshire.

"One of the issues that we've always had to deal with here is support in money from the state," he said.

Although his school population in Bedford, N.H., is growing modestly, Mr. Pope said the tax rate in his town was down slightly because of "a concerted effort on both the school side and the town."

"I know that the Andover school system has an outstanding reputation for being on the cutting edge and being progressive," said Mr. Pope.

"You can tell it's a community that values learning and values children in the process," he said. "I think this is reflected not only in the schools but throughout the community."

Mr. Pope said he was impressed with the activity in Memorial Hall Library when he came to visit.

A former tennis junkie, he said he now enjoys hiking and went on a five-mile walk this weekend.

He will be interviewed by the School Committee Thursday, April 6.

William A. Jutras

A former biology teacher, William Jutras has been a superintendent in three communities during the '90s.

He was a N.H. superintendent from 1986 until 1991, a superintendent in Michigan from 1992 to 1993, and is currently a superintendent in West Warwick, R.I. Dr. Jutras has served as a college lecturer, high school teacher, assistant principal of a high school, and principal of both a junior high and a senior high before moving up to assistant superintendent positions. All of this work took place in the Northeast.

He has been married 23 years, has two children and is known to enjoy photography and golf.

Dr. Jutras asked to delay discussions with the press until after he meets with the School Committee. The committee will interview him Thursday, April 6.

Committees at odds over ranking of superintendent finalists

By Alix Driscoll and Joan Brown

The superintendent search committee, appointed under somewhat controversial circumstances last December, may be leaving a wake of controversy after finalizing its recommendations to the School Committee last week.

At question is the search committee's ranking of the candidates. A member of the superintendent search committee, and several unnamed sources connected to the committee, said this week that candidates for the position were ranked according to an internal system.

Despite rumblings from inside sources, search committee members maintain that their list of five finalists were not ranked in any sort of preferential order.

"We decided as a committee not to do that," Kathleen Hess, superintendent search committee member, said Tuesday morning. "We felt it was not our responsibility to prioritize."

Mary Lyman, former School Committee member, said that the search committee's recommendations were in no particular order. "They just handed over the names," she said.

Sources close to the committee, however, report that rankings did occur.

"I knew the ranking order," said Bill Josephson, superintendent search committee member. "We knew the order when it was all over and done."

After the committee completed the candidates' interviews, he said each search committee member privately evaluated seven of the eight candidates, excluding Richard Neal, interim superintendent of schools, giving each candidate a grade.

Grades ranged from a high score of one, indicating strong support for the candidate, to a low score of three, meaning that the committee member found the candidate unsuitable for the superintendent position.

When the voting was completed, there was a very clear consensus that three candidates should not be given further consideration, said Mr. Josephson. The other four – Dr. John Krewer, Dr. William Jutras, Dr. R. Lloyd Jaeger and Dennis Pope – along with Mr. Neal, were recommended to the School Committee as finalists.

"I knew the ranking of the four," said Mr. Josephson. He said Mr. Neal was not included in the rankings.

"We opted to have the School Committee decide on Dick Neal," said Mr. Josephson.

"He is in the chair and he is acting superintendent. On that basis, he is qualified to be put forward to go to the School Committee.

Several undisclosed sources said last week the search committee used a system of rankings both to identify the top five prospects in the field of eight and to indicate the priority of the finalists. One source, who requested anonymity, said two candidates finished very strongly.

Ms. Lyman said a search-committee member did mention the committee's ranking of the candidates to her. "One member said she had ranked Jaeger and Krewer on the high end," said Ms. Lyman.

"I think there's a lot of weight placed on the search committee recommendations," said Bill Huston, former School Committee member.

The School Committee hastily named members on Dec. 27 to a superintendent search committee after negotiations failed with the consulting firm expected to conduct the search. Four of the five School Committee members selected applicants to be offered positions on the search committee. Mr. Huston, not informed of the meeting, believed he was "excluded intentionally."

The meeting's legality was questioned as well. Notice of the Dec. 27 meeting was not publicly posted for at least 48 applicable hours as required by the Open Meeting Law.

On the advice of town counsel and after heavy community pressure, the School Committee voted again Jan. 17, selecting a total of nine members for the search committee.

Search committee members included eight town residents – Patty Barrett, Janice Barch, Bob Johnston, Suzanne McGrail, Linda Young, Myrna Zetlan, Mr. Josephson and Ms. Hess – and Candace Hall, town personnel director.

than (Mr. Doherty's) operation."

Despite fine weather, the early-day turnout was low, according to election workers. When polls closed at 8 p.m., 3,722 of Andover's 19,027 registered voters – approximately 19.6 percent – had cast ballots, thanks in part to the push of early-evening telephone reminders by the Finegold camp.

Selectmen's race

"Between 4 and 6 p.m. we made about 400 phone calls and I'd say about 70 percent of those people came out and that made the difference," said Mr. Finegold, who thanked his workers and family members for their efforts.

Mr. Finegold spread political posters throughout town, said he spent approximately $6,000, and shook hands and rapped door knockers until voters opened the figurative door for him.

"He ran a campaign like in all my 30 years I've never seen a campaign run for selectman," said Mr. Silverman.

While Mr. Finegold enjoyed his victory Monday night with family and supporters, Mr. Silverman and Mr. Wesson shared a room with their backers in a downtown restaurant. The two incumbents have often campaigned as a team, and Mr. Silverman was disappointed they won't be working together again.

"It's a very hollow victory for me because I think what happened is going to hurt the town. To lose a guy of (Mr. Wesson's) ability and know-how is not in the best interest of the town," said Mr. Silverman. "But Barry worked very hard, spent a lot of money, and you can't beat hard work."

"I knew I had an uphill battle," said Mr. Finegold. "When I do something, either I do it right or I don't do it at all."

Mr. Wesson, who will retire from work April 1, accepted his defeat gracefully.

"As far as the last 12 years, I feel I've made a contribution to the town and I don't have any regrets," he said. "If people decided they wanted someone else that's fine.

"I don't think Jerry and I got enough of our people out to vote, obviously. I think people thought we were pretty much shoo-ins because of the service we've given to the town."

Both incumbent candidates said they do not believe Mr. Finegold can deliver on all he promised during his campaign. Mr. Silverman was bothered because people did not ask how Mr. Finegold planned to slow growth, lower taxes and keep existing services all at the same time.

"He raised questions and talked to people that we could not respond to. No one questioned how he was going to do it," he said. "Am I upset? Obviously I am. I think the town got hurt. But I can't fault Barry. When you run for office you run to get elected."

"I think Barry's message was a popular message. I don't think he's going to deliver it easily. It's going to take him a while to figure all that out. I wish him all the luck in the world," said Mr. Wesson. "Slow growth. How do you do that? That's just impossible. Lower taxes. It has popular appeal, but realistically with the town growing, particularly the schools, that's an impossible task."

Asked how he planned to fulfill his action plan, Mr. Finegold said, "I think there's going to be a lot more questioning of how the town spends its money and some new ideas."

Bill Coderre, the other selectman-race challenger, said he believed his campaign helped lower the cost of several items coming before residents at Town Meeting.

"The race was about taxes, that's what it was about this year," said Mr. Coderre. "You don't always run to win. Sometimes you run to push the issues."

School Committee

Supporters of Tina Girdwood and David Birnbach believe the issue in the School Committee race was a need to head in a new direction.

"I think it's real clear that we have a new mandate in Andover since Bill Josephson was being heavily favored by the majority of the School Committee," said Mr. Birnbach. "I think we need to begin to look at how we can work together on the School Committee and collaborate with the selectmen and the Finance Committee and tackle the complex issues that are presently confronting us."

Neither Mr. Birnbach nor Ms. Girdwood have children in the Andover schools.

Mr. Birnbach quietly celebrated his victory with his wife, Beverly, before traveling to other election parties.

Ms. Girdwood celebrated with her husband, Andrew, a number of supporters at her Tucker Road home, including out-going members Mary Lyman and Bill Huston, who decided not to run for re-election.

"I'm thrilled. I think Tina will do a terrific job and if there ever was a way to leave a position this was the way to do it," said Ms. Lyman.

"I think it's the best news to hit the streets, are you kidding me? I am ecstatic and I am proud of the people of Andover," said Bill Huston.

The three officials shared a toast in Ms. Girdwood's kitchen.

"I think the thing that's critical is people working together," said Ms. Girdwood. "There needs to be a different tone."

Almost $3.4 million in warrant articles would buy drains and mains; and make the rough areas plains

By Alix Driscoll

Annual Town Meeting-goers will be asked to spend $3,375,000 separate from the budget to make improvements to the water infrastructure, storm drains, sidewalks and roads in town.This is down from almost $5.7 million proposed earlier by Bob McQuade, director of public works.

Article 31: Improvements to Fish Brook pumping station

Warrant Article 31 asks for $375,000 for improvements to the Fish Brook pumping station. It is necessary to repair the pumps installed in 1967 at the station and enlarge the capacity by 20 percent, according to Mr. McQuade. Some pipes need to be enlarged and repairs made to the heating and venting system.

The amount requested this year is in addition to the $150,000 that voters appropriated at last year"s Town Meeting but has not yet been spent.

Article 32: Fixing sedimentation basins

For $1 million voters can approve warrant Article 32 and underwrite an overhaul of the sedimentation basins, sludge collectors and backwash equipment at the Water Treatment Plant. Mr. McQuade said water with a low 5.6 pH value has been eating away the concrete walls of the sedimentation basin. The pH is measured on a scale of 1-14, where 7 is neutral and 6 or lower is increasingly acidic. Low pH water allows materials in the water to settle out, he explained. Also, the sludge collecting mechanism needs to be rehabilitated. The computer and instrumentation installed in the early '70s should be replaced, said Mr. McQuade.

Article 33: Water distribution upgrades

The Board of Selectmen chopped Article 33 by two-thirds and approved only $1.1 million of the $3.1 million requested for the second phase of the water distribution upgrades in the Master Plan. The money left in the article will go for a 16-inch water main from the Holt Hill tank down to an easement across Salem Street and across Route 125 to Holt Road. Mr. McQuade said the Holt Hill tank holds water for fire protection and use in the eastern part of town when the pumps at the Water Treatment Plant shut down at night. There are similar tanks at Bancroft School and Wood Hill.

When the selectmen cut $2 million out of the article, Mr. McQuade put on hold laying new mains at Main and School streets, Dascomb Road, North Main Street and Haggetts Pond Road. He said he will come back next year with these projects.

Article 34: sidewalks

On the torturous path through committee reviews to the Town Meeting, Article 34, which would have purchased $400,000 worth of sidewalks, was cut in half by the Board of Selectmen. Remaining in the article are new or repaired sidewalks on Moraine Street, parts of Main and Chestnut streets, Locke Street and Central Street, from School Street to Main Street.

Some storm drains went down the drain when the Board of Selectmen cut improvements from $300,000 to $200,000. With the remaining funds, if appropriated by Town Meeting, Mr. McQuade said he will install storm drains in areas including Rolling Ridge Road, Amherst Road, South School to Woburn Street and Center Street. These are areas that become flooded and freeze in the winter.

Article 36: Road construction and repairs

Road construction and repairs in Article 36 will cost Andover $500,000. These will supplement funds from the state for road construction. Last year, the state gave Andover $400,000 for road work, said Mr. McQuade.

New pumper truck for Fire Dept. on Town Meeting warrant

By Joan Brown

Firefighters want a new engine to replace the aging, 1982 pumper truck currently being used as a reserve unit.

"It's sustained body damage due to rusting," Fire Chief Harold Hayes said at a recent Board of Selectmen meeting.

Though temporary repairs were made, he said that he doesn't expect the engine to last for more than a year.

"It's got serious damage to the undercarriage," he said. "I like to have a reserve truck I can rely on."

'I like to have a reserve truck I can rely on.'

Chief Harold Hayes

Article 37 on the April Town Meeting warrant would fund a new pumper truck at a cost of up to $285,000 and allow the sale or trade of the old vehicle.

The Fire Department maintains four pumper trucks, one at each of the three stations – Central, Ballardvale and West – and a reserve pumper, garaged at Central Station.

If Article 37 wins voter approval, the new pumper engine would be placed at Central Station. The other three engines would be shifted, with the oldest, the 1984 engine currently at Ballardvale, becoming the reserve unit.

No net increase in vehicles would result if the article is approved.

Both the Finance Committee and the Board of Selectmen recommend approval of the warrant article.

Listen to an offended person: A native American

The way we look at the Andover High School warrior logo is, if it offends any Native American, then that's something we need to pay attention to.

It's fine and dandy for those of us who aren't Native Americans to list off reason after reason for keeping the Warrior logo, but who are we to say what offends another person?

If you had been at AHS Project Teamwork's first discussion, Jan. 17, of prejudice in Andover, you would have been impressed with AHS art teacher Dolores Dunning's reasons to do away with the logo. A Native American herself, Ms. Dunning calmly explains why use of sacred feathers and war-dancing Indians offends her.

Being a peaceful and reasonable kind of a person, Ms. Dunning favors students, school council, faculty and School Committee working together toward a solution.

We believe one of the solutions is for people to listen to Ms. Dunning. We saw what happened at that first discussion when one student listened to Ms. Dunning and then at the end said something like this: "I always thought the majority ruled and I thought that since so many favor using the Warrior symbol, it should stay. But now that I have heard you and understand how use of the symbol offends you, I don't think we can use it. We need to listen to you."

When Ms. Dunning explained that using what to Native Americans are sacred feathers would be like someone throwing around chalices – the sacred goblet Christians use to hold the wine of Holy Communion – we understood the problem perfectly.

Project Teamwork will hold a second discussion on prejudice Tuesday, April 4, at 7 p.m. at the school. We suggest more discussion and open listening on the subject.

We would also like to ask community members to suggest other symbols that we might use for Andover High School's logo. It's like any other change: it will be difficult at first, but something we can all get used to.

Smoother, softer, fuller lips: An appropriate priority?

By Perry Colmore

An advertisement for some sort of magic lip balm that will take care of aging lips and the "problem" of lipstick "bleeding" past the lip line into the rest of one's face caught my attention recently.

The ad promises "a two-step treatment for smoother, softer, fuller lips," and as a further come-on offers more: "plus, a free lipstick."

Smoother, softer, fuller lips, would be, I suppose, lovely.

But what of healthy, bumpy, aging and lined lips that say this woman is over 50? That's not so bad, I expect, when you really have your priorities in order.

Spring is here, and advertisers are pushing bathing suits that do just that, push women up and into the Madison Avenue world of what we are supposed to look like in a bathing suit. A few years ago I wrote a column about buying a bathing suit. I said it is one of the most stressful pieces of clothing a woman can buy for herself.

All you have to do is look at an anorexic young woman to understand how traumatic body image can be. Bodies are bodies, and they're all different. What counts is the heart and mind in the body. Again, when we get our priorities in order we realize our obsession with how we look in a bathing suit is almost, well, arrogant. We suppose everyone will focus on us when we appear in the bathing suit. What one looks like in a bathing suit is but a blip in the scope of life's important events.

I've been thinking lately about what we want and what we push for in this country and in this community. In Andover, parents are worried there are too many children in one classroom, and I really don't blame them. All of us think we know that kids in classrooms with lower pupil-teacher ratios have an easier time learning. I can remember when my now 24-year-old daughter was in kindergarten and the schools were threatening to drop kindergarten aides from the budget. I wrote a letter to the editor of the local newspaper and I remember the headline: "Do something about this teacher shortage."

It seemed crucial. Now, when I have the distance and with my priorities in order, I understand that the pupil-teacher ratio was not the most important thing in my 5-year-old's life. My daughter got plenty from home in terms of positive reinforcement of herself as a person, and we read to her and talked with her about school and even went into her classroom to volunteer, giving the message that she and school are very important.

I have a good friend who is having trouble with her boyfriend. They are fighting about clutter in their apartment. Get your priorities in order, you are tempted to say. Forget the small stuff. Concentrate on what counts: love and caring, nurturing and sharing.

I noticed that Paula Leed, who with her brother, Steve, owns Royal Jewelers on Main Street, has been named the 1995 Spring chairperson of the Make-A-Wish Foundation's silent auction donation fantasy. Make-A-Wish is the group that tries to listen to the dreams of children who have terminal illnesses and grant dream trips, celebrity visits and similar wishes. I haven't asked Ms. Leed, but I bet it is more satisfying for her to look into the eyes of a child who is granted a coveted trip to Disney World than to sell a gold watch. When you get your priorities in order, good things often happen.

I imagine former Andover resident Paul Monette, who died recently of complications caused by AIDS, had his priorities in order when shortly before his death he refused medication and, I have been told, spent his last month or so thinking more clearly, now off medication and getting ready to die. If you want to know something about setting priorities and about living and loving, read Paul Monette's Borrowed Time: An AIDS Memoir. You don't have to be gay to benefit from his words of love and priorities.

Anti-aging lipstick, bathing-suit and body-image worries, household clutter, all seem trivial when you stop and really examine the important things in life. Think about it. If you wish.

Warrior logo should remain at AHS

Editor, Townsman:

The use of the AHS Warrior logo and the Indian depicted in the center of the official town seal should remain as important reminders of Andover's unique prehistory .

The archaeological record shows that paleo Indians hunted caribou along the Merrimack and Shawsheen rivers in Andover more than 12,000 years ago. There are dozens of ancient village and camp sites within our 32 square miles.

One of the largest and most important prehistoric sites in New England was located at Shattuck Farm. The Shattuck Farm site is unique because archaeologists have uncovered hundreds of projectile points, stone tools and personal stone and native copper ornaments. These artifacts give us a window on how native people traveled upon and occupied the site from paleo Indian times up to European contact.

Sadly, our European ancestors brought with them waves of epidemics beginning around 1616. Within 20 years the Eastern Abenaki population was devastated. I view the AHS Warrior logo and our official town seal as a tribute to the resourceful and hearty native people who hunted, fished, planted and lived here for 12 millennia.

I do not believe that the AHS students who wore feathers at a recent sporting event intended to ridicule or offend native people. I believe that they were merely expressing support and enthusiasm for their team.

I commend Ms. Dunning, an educator, for pointing out to all of us that certain bird's feathers are sacred to native people. Now we know. It would be very surprising and disappointing to me if students had intended to ridicule native people. Perhaps a comment should be printed on the AHS sports calendar. This would inform students about such sensitive ethnographic symbols as the feathers and other relevant matters for good conduct and respect to native people. Let's continue to admire the Indian logos as symbols of Andover's long and rich prehistory.

Writer praises Principal Campbell

Editor, Townsman:

Well, here we go again! Andover schools have lost again. The resignation of Dr. Campbell, principal of West Middle School, came as a hard blow to me.

Having lived in Andover all my life, I have had the opportunity to know many principals and watch the Andover school system struggle through good times and bad.

Dr. Campbell is not "just" a principal, but he is also a man that will talk openly and honestly to parents. He is very responsive to a child's needs and reacts quickly to solve any problems that a child may be having. His ability to listen to parents and act on certain issues goes well and beyond what I have ever seen in any other principal.

He has hired new teachers that have had a wonderful impact on the school. I believe he not only hires qualified teachers, but teachers that have the ability to motivate the children.

I wish Dr. Campbell and his family the best. If there was something that I could do or say that would make him stay, I would.

I know the decision has to be his to make alone, but just the same, I will be very jealous of the school that gets him as a principal because he is truly one of the best.

Dr. Campbell, you will be missed.

Angry that Principal Campbell is leaving

Editor, Townsman:

Two years ago, it was with great trepidation, that I sent my oldest child to West Middle School. After five nurturing, fulfilling and academically satisfying years at West Elementary, the thought of sending her to WMS with all the problems I'd heard about, and the rumors of the lack of compassion on the part of the staff – well, it was all I could do to let her walk through those doors!

And then, something amazing happened. The dark clouds looming over West Middle parted and the sun shone brightly upon that building and all the horrible stories I'd heard flew away.

She liked it there! The teachers weren't mean, the school wasn't dirty and there was one star shining above the rest – Sam Campbell.

From day one he let us as parents know that he was there to help us, our children, the staff and the school community at any given time. The amazing thing was, he meant it.

I have four children at WMS now, I'm on the school council, I know many of the teachers quite well, and I have come to know Sam Campbell both as a principal and as a friend. He is kind, compassionate, caring, intelligent and genuinely concerned about each and every person in the middle school family.

Whenever I have had a problem, Sam has offered support, help and guidance. On one occasion when he did not agree with my decision, he still supported me and backed my decision.

My children think the world of Dr. Campbell and have a great respect for him. In particular, one of my sons has gotten to know him in adviser-advisee (relationship) and he is devastated by his resignation.

As for me, I am beyond devastation and I am very angry, and I know that I am not alone in my feelings. What I want to know and actually, as one who voted in the present School Committee demand to know, is why. The committee members were elected to set policies and guidelines, oversee the school budget and represent the people of this town. I do not feel that they have represented the feelings of the majority of parents at West Middle School. As a matter of fact, I don't know whose feelings they have represented.

We have the right to know why this decision was made and while it may be too late to undo the wrong that has been done, we need to make sure that this type of situation is not allowed to occur again.

Opposed to Rec Park for Youth Center site

Editor, Townsman:

This letter is written to discuss some troubling aspects concerning the proposal to build a youth center/SHED collaborative center at Recreation Park.

Few Andover residents may realize that the Quinnapowitt Boy Scout Council donated the land to the town in 1957 to be used by hikers, athletes and families to enjoy in perpetuity. The deed stipulated that the land be "granted for recreation purposes only." Now comes the Youth Council and SHED, lacking a comprehensive plan for current or future funding, about to violate this will in order to build a "Rec Park Center," which would exchange towering red oak and northern white pine for asphalt, glass and new sewer lines. One need only observe the rapid pace of Andover's housing construction and the developers' threat to Den Rock Park to realize that Andover's character would further succumb to creeping urbanization.

Transport to the relatively remote Rec Park is another issue; how many more buses and cars would have to transit from the more populated areas of town to Rec Park, which is essentially devoid of public transportation? South Abbot Street is dark, winding and devoid of sidewalks. According to residents, a large number of single car accidents have occurred along the Spring Grove Cemetery wall; most of these have gone unreported unless there has been a severe injury. Is this isolated center truly the safest and most ideal location for a youth center? How much would the town need to spend in order to improve Abbot Street to adequate safety standards? SHED and the Youth Council have not provided objective data on these questions.

Above all, why should the town encourage the loss of precious recreation land for a large edifice when so many existing potential centers would be unused? For example, why can't the West Middle or the Doherty school property become the nucleus for such a center, with their meeting rooms, gym, abundant parking, more central location and easy transportation access?

At town meeting, let's wholeheartedly vote for the articles which would improve Recreation Park and other playing fields around town as outdoor recreation facilities, preserving them for all Andoverites, rather than paving over recreation land for the use of only a few.

Put youth center in downtown Andover

Editor, Townsman:

I read with interest the Town Meeting articles about the proposed youth center at Rec Park in the March 23 Townsman.

Rec Park is a lonely and isolated place, far from the High School, middle schools, and Memorial Hall Library. It's at the end of a poorly maintained road in a relatively unpopulated area of town. It can be reached on foot from South School by a short walk through the woods.

These are significant problems with the location of the proposed youth center – teenagers will have to drive or be driven to get there, the town will have to plow and maintain the road, and few South parents will be comfortable with the idea of their kids walking through the woods.

The proposed Youth Center does not address another town problem, that of kids socializing in downtown stores and Memorial Library after school. A youth center in Rec Park probably will be unable to attract enough kids away from downtown to help deal with this problem.

It seems to me that a better site for the youth center would be in part of the Old Town Hall, or in another site near Memorial Library.

Instead of spending money on bricks and mortar at Rec. Park, less money could be spent equipping and staffing a better-located site with youth center facilities. A downtown site would help solve the librarians' and storekeepers' problem by giving them a good place to send kids who want to talk and socialize. Also, the late-afternoon school bus would not have to go so far out of its way to collect after-schoolers.

I fear an isolated youth center at Rec Park would quickly turn into a white elephant and fall into disrepair. Instead, why not use an existing convenient downtown building for the youth center? I respectfully ask one of the advocates of the Rec Park youth center proposal to discuss this question when these articles come up at Town Meeting.

In support of growth for the Senior Center

Editor, Townsman:

For the past three years my husband has attended the Social Day Care at the Senior Center. When he started, he went three days a week and then increased to four days each week. I cannot begin to tell you what the program has meant not only to Jim, but to me as well.

Kathy Urquart and Marion Aziz are two very competent and caring people and the program they have is varied and interesting and Jim looked forward to being in that warm and supportive atmosphere. It always amazed me what they were able to accomplish in their limited amount of space. There were lounge chairs for those who needed to rest and tables for activities, and they are always busy making something. Both the men and women who attend can do something of interest to them.

I am sure that I speak for those who have a loved one who participates in the program that we are fortunate to have this available to us.

I would hope that it will continue and that they might have space to grow.

Supports a Ballardvale Historic District

Editor, Townsman:

Since 1982 Andover has had seven districts listed on the National Register of Historic Places – Ballardvale, Central Street, Main/Locke streets, Academy Hill, West Parish Center, Shawsheen Village and Andover Industrial Village. National Historic Register status, however, provides only recognition, not protection, of historically important sites. The Demolition Delay Bylaw, while important, provides a limited protection mechanism.

At the April Town Meeting, Andover's citizens will have the opportunity to enact important preservation-enabling legislation that will permit the formation of a local historic district in Ballardvale. For the past two years, a study committee, composed primarily of Ballardvale residents, has researched the feasibility and desirability of establishing a local historic district in their community. The purpose of the district is to preserve and protect the distinctive characteristics of Ballardvale's historically significant mill village by maintaining and improving the setting of those buildings, and encouraging new designs that are compatible with the existing structures. The bylaw provides for the creation of a district commission composed of representatives of the Ballardvale community, including professionals, appointees from historic organizations and ordinary citizens, who will then develop reasonable, uniform design-review guidelines based on their community's input and historic-preservation design standards.

The authority of the bylaw will apply only to exterior architectural features of buildings in the district. Exemptions from the review process include ordinary maintenance and repair, paint color, landscaping with plant materials, terraces, walks, sidewalks, driveways, storm doors and windows, window air-conditioners, light fixtures, conventional antennae, reconstruction substantially similar in exterior design of a structure destroyed by fire or other calamity, signs less than two square feet in area or temporary signs. A public hearing will be held April 6 at the Memorial Auditorium at the Doherty Middle School at 7:30 p.m. to provide information and address concerns. Information is available from study committee members or at town offices.

Currently, Massachusetts has more than 100 communities where voters have adopted local historic-district ordinances. They have recognized that the advantages well exceed the disadvantages of having local preservation controls for community historical and cultural resources. North Andover, North Reading, Lawrence, Methuen, Boxford, Lowell and Billerica are some of the neighboring towns that have established local districts.

The Andover Historical Commission urges support of Article 70. We believe it is a pro-active step to preserving the New England character of our town.

Writers urge voters to reject rezoning Champy property

Editor, Townsman:

At Town Meeting, voters will be presented with an important choice regarding Champy property, which includes approximately .25 miles of frontage along the Shawsheen River and abuts Den Rock Park and its miles of trails and regionally important rock-climbing area.

The Andover Trails Committee has been active this past year working to assure a protected greenway along the Shawsheen River in the face of active redevelopment of several important properties. We urge voters to reject a private article to rezone this property from the industrial classification to residential.

The Champy property should not be rezoned for residential use until the town can fully evaluate the impact of the full build-out allowable of the proposed use. Issues which need to be closely examined include its impact on the adjacent residential community and its road system, the impact on our school system and our town services. Further, as large scale development is being proposed for the adjacent Den Rock Park in Lawrence, as well as other properties in the vicinity of Brickstone Square, we need to cautiously evaluate the impact of growth in this corner of our community on the character of our entire town.

At some point in the future, the town may wish to reconsider its past decision on this property's zoning classification, but it should be done in the context of adjacent lands. Town control of development through zoning classification is a well established part of our system of self-governance. We do not have to passively permit speculative uses of land which jeopardize the common good of our community.

We urge voters to turn down the private article calling for rezoning of the Champy property. The trails committee is interested in protecting the Shawsheen Greenway, a connection with Den Rock Park, and also believes that this is not the time or place for the type of residential development being proposed.

Understanding Chiropractic

by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.

TREATING ARTHRITIS

Chiropractic offers itself as a drug-free treatment option to those who suffer from arthritis. By turning their attention toward misaligned or subluxated vertebrae, chiropractors may counter the debilitating effects of the disease. In fact, the symptoms of misalignment or subluxation of vertebrae and joints so closely match those of osteoarthritis (wear-and tear arthritis) that the latter may be mistaken for the former. Even when osteoarthritis is correctly diagnosed, misaligned or subluxated vertebrae are factors in a majority of cases. Osteoarthritis may arise out of the abnormal stresses that occur when the vertebrae are out of position. Those who experience arthritic pain or similar symptoms should not overlook chiropractic treatment as a viable option.

Many studies have shown the benefit of spinal adjustments for arthritis sufferers. Chiropractic is not a treatment for arthritis, but if you have arthritis you should have your spine checked for spinal nerve stress by a chiropractor. At DeLORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP, we are specially trained to locate and free the body from spinal nerve stress. Our office is located at 15 Central Street. Please call 475-5042 to schedule an appointment.

P.S. The goal of chiropractic treatment for arthritis is to restore a full range of movement and free the body from pain.

SPORTS

Four seniors will start for AHS varsity baseball

By Rick Harrison

Few schools in Massachusetts can match the success of Andover High in varsity baseball the past five years.

Back-to-back state titles in 1991 and 1992, three Eastern Mass. Division 1 North championships, four consecutive Merrimack Valley Conference Large School titles, four 20-win seasons, and a blistering overall record of 106 wins, 14 losses for an .883 winning percentage.

Andover, which is also 139-27 in its last 166 games including tournament play, has reached the third round of the tournament all but once since 1988.

Ken Maglio, in his 25th year with the Andover program and his third as head varsity coach, is confident the tradition will continue this spring.

However, it must be done with a group that includes only four returning starters from last year's squad.

The 1994 Golden Warriors finished 18-7 overall, hitting their stride late in the season by winning the annual Lawrence Invitational Tournament (for the ninth time).

The team also took the Eastern Mass. Division I North championship.

Andover hammered North Andover 19-9 and edged Lawrence 1-0 in the Lawrence tourney, and then registered consecutive wins over Newton South (13-0), Revere (25-9), Malden (8-5) and Boston Latin (7-5) en route to the North title.

The locals were finally ousted by defending champ New Bedford, 6-4, in a tough State Tournament semifinal.

Gone from that team through graduation are eight key players, including 16 of the 18 pitching wins, the front-line catcher and the left side of the infield.

Ace pitcher Todd Murray is now in the starting rotation as a freshman at Providence College (recent shutout win over Rhode Island) and third baseman Jeff Lembo is playing at Assumption College.

Shortstop Matt Wolcott is being redshirted at South Florida and catcher Paul Allard is at Westfield State.

First baseman-DH Toby Guzowski is prepping at Phillips Academy.

Outfielder Chris Sintros is at Holy Cross and left fielder Bob Daley is at Assumption.

Pitcher Tim Caverly is a member of the Marine Corps stationed in Hawaii.

Murray was 11-1 on the mound last spring, Wolcott batted over .400 and won four games as a pitcher, Lembo hit close to .400 while stealing 29 bases and scoring 41 runs, Guzowski batted over .300, Caverly won three games and Allard was rock-solid behind the plate.

The Andover coaching staff, which also includes varsity assistants Kevin Rourke and new addition Chris Eggert (pitching coach), Dan Grams (junior varsity) and Claude Beaudet (freshman), greeted 58 candidates at the first practice session 10 days ago.

The early workouts have been at the Phillips Academy cage and in the high school and middle school gyms.

The first pre-season scrimmages are scheduled this Saturday (April 1) at Pinkerton Academy in Derry N.H., where Andover will play the host team at 10 a.m. and Plymouth, N.H. High at noon.

Additional scrimmages are scheduled every day next week.

The non-league regular season opener is Saturday, April 8 against intra-town archrival Phillips Academy.

The schools renewed their baseball association last April when Phillips posted a season-opening 10-9 victory.

Andover residents on the Big Blue this year include Guzowski, Todd Harris and Hugh Quattlebaum.

Nucleus of four

The four returning starters are senior outfielder and team Captain Mike Maguire, senior first baseman-DH and team Captain Tom Gardner, senior second baseman Tom Tanin and junior right fielder Dana McCann.

Maguire's 1994 season is well-documented, including school records for season batting average (.506) and hits (44), one amazing 24-for-32 late-season stretch (.750), the MVC batting championship and being named Most Valuable Player of the Eastern Mass. Division I North Tournament.

Lefty swinger Gardner hit over .500 in the five tournament games and finished the season well over .300.

The Golden Warriors have seven other players who saw enough varsity time last spring to earn their letter.

This group includes senior 6'6" lefthanded pitcher Cris Brown, who was 2-0 last year and appears to have conquered his control problems, senior 6'7" righty hurler Tom Clarke, senior catcher Pete Daniels, senior outfielder Rob Derba, senior third baseman Nate Roberts, junior third baseman Mark Langone and sophomore shortstop Brian Tisbert.

New to the varsity are senior second baseman Dana DiFiore, junior pitcher Chris Kearn, junior catcher Ted Witman, sophomore outfielder Ryan Games and freshman outfielder-pitcher Jason Caverly.

Maguire (soccer), Tanin (basketball), McCann (football), Brown (basketball), Daniels (football), Tisbert (football), DiFiore (hockey), Kearn (golf) and Witman (skiing) have all enjoyed success in other varsity sports this academic year.

Four other sophomores will spend most of their time with the junior varsity, but could be elevated to the varsity for brief or permanent stints.

This quartet consists of third baseman-pitcher Mark O'Sullivan, outfielder-pitcher Rob Busby, first baseman Steve Vickers and shortstop Jack Glazebrook.

Maglio evaluates

Coach Maglio points to speed and defense as two reliable 1995 strengths.

"It's always better to evaluate after a few scrimmages, but speed is something that won't change and we've looked very solid defensively in the early workouts," said Maglio.

"Games, Caverly and Glazebrook are the new kids who add speed to what we already have with players like Maguire and McCann.

"Our outfielders should fill the gaps quickly. They'll run down most fly balls and should cut off the ones that drop.

"The only question mark, as it is every year, is the pitching," said Maglio.

Andover has been fortunate to have an incredible string of All-Scholastic caliber pitchers over the past decade.

The great pitchers from the past include Steve Surette, Chris Eggert, Dave Blank, Jim Hanning, Justin Hesenius and Todd Murray.

"Last year Todd stepped up and did a tremendous job," said Maglio.

"And there is potential for someone to fill the void again this season.

"Clarke and Brown have outstanding size, and both seem to have licked their control problems.

"Clarke has a live fastball and the potential to be an excellent power pitcher.

Kearn hits the corners and has good poise, while Caverly throws heat. Another potential pitching standout, also physically large, could join the team after the current academic marking period ends April 17. He, Clarke and Brown would give AHS one of the tallest, beefiest pitching staffs in local high school history.

Junior varsity

Rounding out Coach Grams' junior varsity team are juniors Justin Bastinelli and Peter Kaltsunas, sophomores Ryan Daniels, Dan Gosselin, Josh Murphy, Randy Romano and Jeff Scott, and freshmen Ben Gibson, Joe Maglio, Jason Monarca and Rob Oppenheim.

Most members of the varsity and JV teams have also played on successful Andover American Legion and Pony League teams in the summer.

Lowell tough

Coach Maglio feels defending MVC Large champion Lowell, which returns its top two pitchers from last spring (John Morris, Steve Cushing), will be the team to beat.

There really are no weak teams, however, with traditional power Billerica, Chelmsford (which has a new young coach in Mike O'Keefe), Central Catholic and Haverhill all possible division title challengers.

Field situation

With the construction currently going on at the high school, the varsity may be forced to use the adjacent JV field for home games early in the season.

The JVs would probably move to the freshman field at West Middle temporarily, with the freshman going to Doherty Middle whenever there are conflicting home games.

Scrimmages, schedule

Next week's scrimmages are with North Andover (Monday and Thursday), Arlington Catholic (Tuesday and Wednesday) and Peabody High (Friday).

After the Phillips Academy opener, the Golden Warriors will be idle until Monday, April 17 when they play a non-league vacation week game at East Boston (10 a.m.).

The MVC opener is April 19 at Haverhill and the home opener April 21 versus Wilmington. Andover will again participate in the six-team Lawrence Invitational Tournament in late May, the field also including Methuen, North Andover, Tewksbury, Amesbury and host Lawrence High.

Coach Maglio, a teacher at West Middle School and assistant varsity football coach, has a 38-9 overall record in his first two seasons (20-2 in 1993).

Volleyball is set for great season

By Rick Harrison

The 1995 Andover High boys varsity volleyball team will have to be almost perfect, and win a State championship, to improve upon last year's success.

"We have the potential to be better," said Golden Warriors seventh-year coach George Sullivan.

The difficulty in being better is that last spring Andover finished the regular season with an 18-1 record, winning its fourth North Alliance championship in six years, and was 20-2 overall after adding State Tournament wins over Latin Academy (3-0) and Newton North (3-2) before losing to Holliston (3-0) in the state semifinals.

In the program's six-year existence, coach Sullivan's AHS netmen have won four league titles, reached the state semifinals twice (1990, 1994), the state quarterfinals twice, and posted an 80-29 overall record for a .734 winning percentage.

Holliston has knocked Andover out of the tourney two straight years, and the only other loss last spring came to eventual State champ New Bedford (2-1) in a much-anticipated late-season showdown of unbeaten powers.

Only two other teams, Chelmsford and Newton South, were able to win a game against Andover during the regular season as the Golden Warriors registered 16 shutouts (2-0).

Six players graduated from the school's first 20-win volleyball team.

Glenn Wilson is playing intramural volleyball at Penn State, which has a top varsity program, J.P. Guerard is at Salem State College and Alex Raymond at Georgetown.

Those three earned All-Scholastic honors, Wilson was the MVP of the North Alliance, and each member of the trio was a solid middle hitter.

Also gone are defensive specialists Jim Woodroffe, Doug Miller and Kevin Pojasek.

AHS men's volleyball gets set for strong season on March 20 were senior team Captain Tim Foley and senior Sean Croteau.

Foley, also a 1994 All-Scholastic choice, is a superb setter who may see considerable time at outside and middle hitter. "Tim is probably the best setter in the state," said coach Sullivan. Croteau is a top setter and outside hitter. Senior outside hitter Aaryn Schmuhl earned a varsity letter last spring, while junior middle hitter Joe Hogarty and junior outside hitter Pat Hess split time between the successful junior varsity and varsity teams.

Moving up from the JV squad are senior middle/outside hitter Abdul Ortiz, senior defender Greg Litchfield, senior defender Paul Krasnoo, senior outside hitter Andy Shen, and sophomore 6'3" middle hitter Nick Wilson.

New to the team, and expected to add some punch, are senior 6'5" middle hitter Matt Gibson, senior outside hitter Eric Thompson, and junior defenders Jeong An, Jon Adams and Pat Sharkey.

Gibson, Thompson and Sharkey were all members of Andover's outstanding varsity basketball team, while Thompson was also a star running back in football.

"All three are excellent athletes," said coach Sullivan.

"They should be able to play several positions, but because they're new to the sport it will take awhile to learn the moves and get the timing down."

Sullivan is also anxiously awaiting the return of junior setter Sean Rodriquez, a talented veteran who could be out another month with a hip injury.

"Sean has terrific hands and he's another all-around athlete (soccer standout)," said coach Sullivan.

Setting a strength

"There are still a lot of unanswered questions but I believe we're going to do well," said coach Sullivan.

"Setting is a definite strength, but we have to find another middle hitter. A lot will depend on how quickly the new kids come along. Gibson could be a very intimidating player.

"We're behind some of the other teams because of our gym situation (several teams sharing the space), losing a couple practices because of lighting problems and voting, and the fact that I don't have an assistant coach. It's crazy time but we're coping.

"We're favored in the league. But I have a tendency to worry about everybody and the league should be tougher.

"Among the chief rivals are Methuen, Chelmsford and Lowell, while on a statewide scale defending champ New Bedford and Newton North figure to be tough. Holliston graduated most of its team.

First-year teams Dracut and Westford Academy are new additions to the North Alliance.

Scrimmages, schedule

The Golden Warriors did very well in a pre-season "Play Day" last weekend at Milford High, beating North Quincy, Newton North and host Milford in a series of round-robin two-game scrimmages.

Andover hosted a touring private school team from Lancaster, Ohio in a scrimmage match earlier this week.

The locals have another Play Day scheduled at Holliston High on Saturday.

The regular season opens next Monday with a home match against Newton South (4:40 p.m.).

The North Alliance league opener is next Wednesday, April 5, at Westford Academy (3:30).

The Andover players will also vote for a second team captain this Saturday.

All-American Andrea D'Innocenzo co-captains UConn softball

Andrea D'Innocenzo, a resident of Andover, was one of the female student-athletes honored recently by the University of Connecticut in Storrs, Conn., for outstanding achievements.

President Harry Hartley and Director of Athletics Lew Perkins presented awards to 14 women selected for their "demonstration of exemplary leadership and integrity; exuding commitment and consistent performance in their sport or area of study; and for serving the university and community at large."

Ms. D'Innocenzo, a business major with an interest in the communications field, is senior co-captain of the softball team.

She was a 1993 Third Team All-America performer.

She earned NCAA College World Series All-Tournament Team honors that year.

Last year she was named to the ECAC Conference First Team.

She was a two-time First Team All-Northeast, First Team All-New England and First Team All-Big East selection as a sophomore and junior.

Named 1992 Big East Rookie of the Year, Ms. D'Innocenzo holds three UConn career hitting records for RBIs (105) and home runs (15).

She is tied for the career lead in doubles (31).

In her first three seasons, she was a starter in all 155 games she played in and has missed only three games in her career.

Ms. D'Innocenzo ranks in the top 10 in nine other career batting categories.

She is fourth in batting average (.334), total bases (257) and slugging percentage (.518) and sixth in runs scored (81).

She knocked in a school-record 42 runs and cracked a school-record nine homeruns in 1993.

As a junior she claimed First Team All-Northeast Region, All-ECAC and All-New England.

She added All-Big East honors.

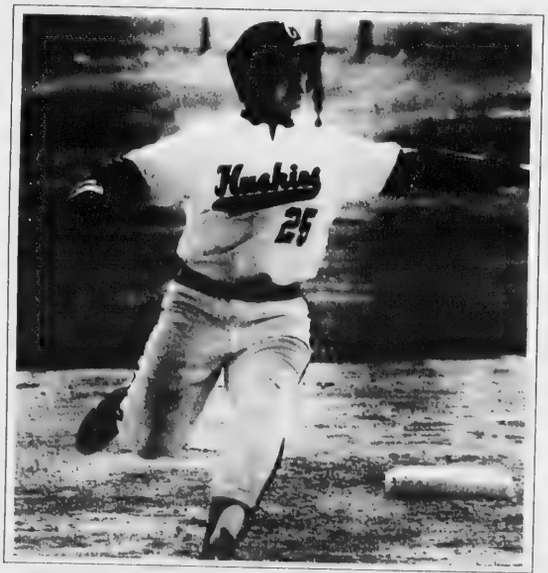

Ms. D'Innocenzo grew up in Sudbury.

She moved to Dayton, Ohio and attended Archbishop Alter High School. There she played softball and soccer as an All-Area performer.

She was softball MVP as a junior and senior.

She moved to Andover after high school.

She accepted a bid to University of Connecticut after attending its summer softball camp.

All-American Andrea D'Innocenzo is senior co-captain of the varsity softball team at University of Connecticut. She has started in the outfield in either left or right field each of her first three seasons. She holds the UConn career RBI (105), home runs (15) and doubles (31) records.

Owners Gene and Debbie Marshall

Hometown Seafoods

Hometown Seafoods has expanded and is now able to offer customers far more variety of seafoods, ready to eat prepared dinners and frozen entrees. Owner Gene Marshall picks up native fish, such as haddock, scrod, whitefish and halibut daily at the wharfs in Gloucester. He also takes regular trips to Boston for salmon, tuna, swordfish, red snapper, shrimp, clams, sea scallops and mussels to insure the freshest seafood available. They carry the popular New Zealand greenshell mussels. Fresh fish are cut on the premises.

A tank stocked with live lobsters enables customers to choose their own. Hometown Seafoods will pack and ship lobsters throughout the country. These make special gifts to bring or send to those in land locked states. They also cook lobsters for the customers' convenience. They will help you plan your own clam bake.

A case displays various ready made seafoods and accompaniments. Among the foods available are squid salad; crabmeat stuffed mushrooms; coleslaw; pasta salad; lobster; crab meat stuffed filet of sole; stuffed potatoes; Maryland crab cakes; baked stuffed shrimp; crab and tuna rolls and three varieties of chowder. Ask about party platters made to your specifications. An extensive line of condiments is available, as well as dips, gourmet pastas and Belmont ice cream.

Frozen entrees are also carried. Among the favorites are Scrod Delizioso, haddock with herb dressing, frog legs, fish munchies, Creamed Fin Haddie and various dips.

Customers are welcome to browse. Owners Gene and Debbie Marshall are eager to give any advice needed as you enjoy a cup of complimentary cider and popcorn. They strive to accommodate special orders from your own personal "wish list" whenever possible.

Hometown Seafoods is located at 15 Barnard Street, Andover. They are open Monday through Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Telephone: (508) 475-7426.

BodySense Owner/Director Sue Luby

Sue Luby's BodySense

Sue Luby is an internationally known author, lecturer, television producer, hypnotherapist, yoga and fitness expert. The BodySense System was developed to allow the individual to understand his/her own unique body alignment and to learn how to correct the unhealthy patterns which have caused damage and stress to the body. Once these weaknesses have been identified, they can be corrected in class, allowing immediate results and relief.

A series of mini workshops will be offered this spring. The topics being covered are: Finding your inner energy, Walking and running clinic, Making BodySense at home, BodySense back clinic, Absolute abs & firmer buns, The feminine mind/body connection and Massage therapy. For more details call or send for free brochure.

BodySense classes will begin April 3 and run for 12 weeks. Classes may be taken once or twice a week. Private sessions of BodySense or hypnotherapy are also available. Please call Sue Luby for a brochure, if you wish to discuss the program or have any questions. Arrangements can be made to observe a class.

As a personal trainer, Sue Luby will evaluate your home equipment and devise a program best suited for your needs. She also conducts stress reduction programs at companies during lunchtimes.

Sue Luby offers three phase hypnotherapy. This technique is successful for weight control, stress, study habits, smoking, snoring, relaxation, self esteem, confidence building, etc. The first consultation evaluates the client's goals. Hypnotherapy follows with positive suggestions for these personal goals. A personalized script that utilizes this material is taped so the client may take it home for reinforcement.

Sue Luby's BodySense is located at 12 Essex Street, Suite 3, Andover. Telephone: (508) 475-4663.

Safety officials seek
$100k for traffic emitters

By Alix Driscoll

For $100,000, April Town Meeting voters will have an opportunity to purchase traffic signal emitters to change the lights to green in the direction of travel for emergency vehicles.

And the timing is crucial, according to Andover Firefighter George P. Thomson Jr. and Lt. Jim Cuticchia, proponents of Article 66. They say the two-part 3M Optim system will speed fire engines, ambulances and police vehicles to emergencies.

It works like this: An infrared-emitting device mounted in the light bar of an emergency vehicle sends a signal to a receiving device mounted on traffic signal to change the light from red to green. The "capture" of the traffic light only works when the light bar is on, said Lt. Cuticchia.

Timing is important for two reasons, he said.

The state will soon be installing new light signals, on Gould Road at Route 125, on River Road, at Phillips Academy and in Shawsheen Square.

"If we have these devices in place on the vehicles, the state will incorporate the detectors in the new lights for free," said Lt. Cuticchia.

The town must make a commitment to putting the emitting devices on all its vehicles and retro-fitting the existing town signal lights, agreed Harold F. Hayes, Andover's fire chief.

"Purchases (of both sets of hardware) will be discounted by 40 percent if bought before September, 1995," said Lt. Cuticchia. "This will allow the town to take advantage of technology at a reasonable cost."

If this warrant article passes, the police department will purchase 12 emitters and the fire department will purchase the same number.

Congestion around town

The congestion in the center of town hinders the passage of emergency vehicles, according to the safety officials.

"There is a present control system on the lights in the downtown area, but it does not work properly if an emergency vehicle is going north or taking a right turn on Central Street, for example," said Mr. Thomson.

The current system turns both the lights on Main Street to green so the emergency vehicles can pass, even if they turn off at Elm Square, leaving all cross traffic sitting at red lights.

Using the new devices will do two things, said Chief Hayes.

"It will make it a lot safer for public traffic, and it will speed up our response time," said Chief Hayes.

He said he is very concerned about the heavy traffic situations in the afternoon at the Tech School, and Shattuck Road/River Road intersection.

Contrary to what many people think, safety vehicles are bound by state law to come to a complete stop at red lights.

Neighboring communities of North Andover, Lawrence, Methuen and Salem, N.H., have already installed these devices, said Mr. Thompson.

And on the floor of Town Meeting, the money will be cut from $500,000 to $100,000 for the cost of these devices.

Already the Board of Selectmen and Finance Committee have agreed to the lower figure.

Smoke gets in their eyes

By Alix Driscoll and Joan Brown

How do you get a squirrel out of your chimney?

Go up in a tree and act like a nut.

Squirrels, raccoons and other small critters are the reason Article 72, regarding chimney caps, is on the April Town Meeting warrant.

"This article came from our animal officer, who is spending an inordinate amount of time going into houses" to remove animals caught in chimneys, said Buzz Stapczynski, town manager.

Wayne Nader, animal control officer, said he receives about two calls per week from residents with critters in their chimneys. Some of the illicit boarders are happy in their new brick homes and are difficult to remove, he said. Others are busy tearing the house apart trying to get out.

"Anybody and everybody should put a cap on their chimney," said Mr. Nader.

Some of these interlopers, especially raccoons, can carry rabies. Intruding animals can also cause fires and increased carbon-monoxide production by blocking the chimney or flue.

Proponents say squirrels and people could benefit from Article 72.

If the article is approved by residents at Town Meeting, every new and rebuilt chimney would be required to have a cap and screening to keep animals out.

The article has purpose from an animal-health standpoint as well, according to Larry Larsen, selectman.

"It's to protect the squirrels from being subjected to second-hand smoke."

BERTUCCI'S

BRICK OVEN PIZZERIA

VOLUME 2, NUMBER 1

SPRING, 1995

TALES OF THE INTREPID GOURMET

One Diner's Viewpoint Of Bertucci's Brick Oven Pizzeria

It's the aroma that captured me first. The tantalizing fragrance of hearty spices and baking bread perked up my taste buds as I entered Bertucci's. The interior decor was reminiscent of a colorful courtyard in sunny Italy, decorated for a neighborhood party you've been spontaneously invited to...painted stucco walls, skylights, curved archways, slate and tile floors, marble accents, and of course, their trademark built-in ovens in an open kitchen for all to see. Each Bertucci's location has its own distinctive stamp of authentic Italian individuality, evoking all the zest and spirit of the old country.

The menu was highly varied, featuring such specialty pizzas as the Formaggio (four cheeses, no sauce), Margherita (neapolitan mozzarella, sliced basil, extra romano and tomato sauce), and the Marengo (peppers, tomato, grilled chicken with hot pepper, white wine, lemon and mozzarella). Or you can create your own pizza from a list of 25 toppings.

I was impressed by the excellent variety of gourmet pasta dishes...from ravioli to gnocchi. Rounding the menu was a broad selection of soups, salads, appetizers (the antipasto is a meal in itself!) and desserts, plus a terrific kids menu.

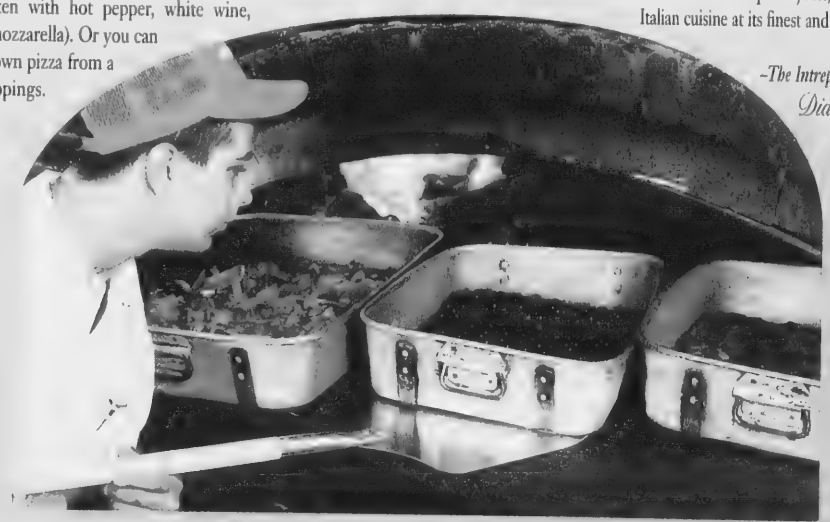

I ordered the small Quattro Stagioni pizza, segmented by four toppings...artichoke hearts, green peppers, mushrooms, and prosciutto. I devoured the sensational homemade rolls (as many as you want, baked fresh every ten minutes...a hallmark of Bertucci's!). Through the open kitchen I could see my pizza prepared in the same way Italians have made it for centuries; using only the freshest ingredients then sliding it in the famous hot brick ovens. My pizza was done quickly and served bubbling hot.

It was love at first bite! The sauce was marvelously flavorful, toppings were thick, with the wholesome taste of fresh-off-the-vine goodness bursting in every mouthful! I'm not normally a crust-eater, but Bertucci's homemade, brick oven-baked crust made the meal perfect. After loosening my belt I indulged in "just one more slice" followed by a cappuccino and a sweet-tooth-satisfying tiramisu.

Bertucci's Brick Oven Pizzeria passed my highest test of superior dining and taste. Bertucci's is not a pizza joint; this is genuine Italian cuisine at its finest and freshest.

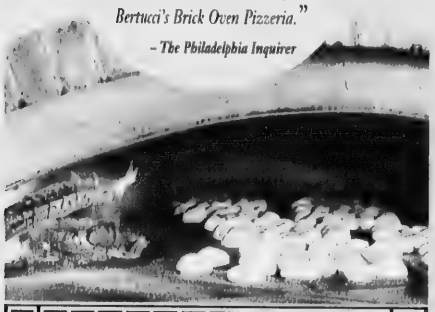

-The Intrepid Diner
Diane Ladley

DON'T MISS... Money Saving Certificates on the back page!

The way it was is the way it is.

"If there is a sure-fire recipe for success in the restaurant world, it is to follow the formula of Bertucci's Brick Oven Pizzeria."
– The Philadelphia Inquirer

Why Are Brick Ovens Better?

The authentic Italian way to cook pizza and bread is to use an old-fashioned brick oven.

The oven gives the crust perfect texture... thin, but deliciously chewy with no cracker-like crunch.

It also gives the crust perfect taste... a lightly charred edge and marvelous smokey flavor impossible for conventional pizza ovens to achieve.

The dry heat of a brick oven cooks evenly and reaches temperatures of 700° to 900°, so the pizza is thoroughly cooked in less than five minutes.

With less cooking time, freshness, flavor, and nutritional value are locked in...

...and your pizza is served bubbling and hot without a long wait!

Joey Crugnale

Every Bertucci's restaurant has its own unique architectural design, like the Bertucci's in Orlando, Florida.

Success From Scratch

Bertucci's founder and president, Joey Crugnale has earned a reputation for having the golden touch. But Joey has an unusual success story...unusual because this boy from Boston's back streets has two success stories!

Born in Sulmona, Italy and raised in Somerville, Massachusetts, Joey Crugnale gained restaurant experience from the bottom up, as a busboy at the Sonesta Hotel in Cambridge, Massachusetts. In 1975 he bought Steve's Ice Cream store for $80,000. Eight years later, after raising Steve's Ice Cream to a virtual cult status along the east coast, he sold it for $4.5 million.

He opened a small pizza restaurant next to Steve's Ice Cream and called it Bertucci's. "It was just a favorite place for me to hang out with my friends, play bocce, and eat some real Italian pizza," Joey says with a quintessential Italian shrug of his shoulders.

Bertucci's was one of the first to introduce wood-fired brick ovens in the United States and word about this marvelous pizza restaurant swept across the east coast. Since 1981, Bertucci's has grown from one tiny store to over 70 locations, achieving skyrocketing sales, applause from industry trades, and adoration from food critics and customers.

"I took a common thing... and made it uncommon," explains Joey at a recent, jam-packed Grand Opening party of one of his newest locations. "Add a little pizzazz, some color, and atmosphere that's never boring. Variety...that's what customers love."

But perhaps the real secret is Joey Crugnale himself. Joey's presence brims with the restless energy of a born entrepreneur. To Joey, success isn't measured in dollars, but by the sheer pleasure of watching his baby – Bertucci's, Steve's, or the next venture – grow up to become the most popular kid in town.

Kids Love Bertucci's & Bertucci's Loves Kids!

BERTUCCI'S BRICK OVEN PIZZERIA

Bertucci's Brick Oven Pizzeria entertains even the most restless child with out-of-the-ordinary activities that are a big hit with the kid crowd! It's so boring waiting for a table...but at Bertucci's, kids (and adults tired of acting grown up!) can draw on floor-to-ceiling chalkboards with fat colored chalk right in the foyer! Ask for "play dough"; actual uncooked bread dough that keeps kids happy and spinning their own "pizzas" while parents relax over an after dinner cappuccino. There's a terrific menu of small-person's-sized pizza and pastas. Great food, great fun, and a feel-good family atmosphere make Bertucci's #1 with kids (Mom and Dad too!).

"...this is a nice place to take children since there are special amenities to amuse them..."
– Chicago Sun-Times

"A place to kick back and enjoy the humble pleasure of eating a satisfying and delicious dinner."
– The Boston Globe

Make A Wish At Bertucci's...
A Child's Dream Comes True!

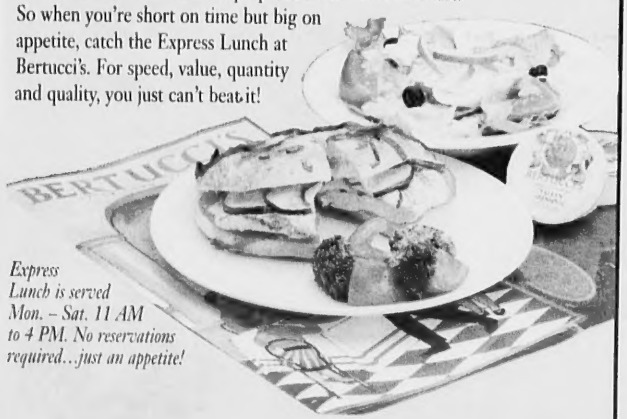

Bertucci's is a proud supporter of the Starlight Foundation, a not-for-profit organization dedicated to granting the wishes of critically and chronically ill children. Thanks to Bertucci's employees and generous customer donations, the 1994 Starlight Fundraising Drive was the most successful yet, raising over $22,000! They've put stars in the eyes of these children by sending them to the Super Bowl, Disney World, and introducing them to favorite performers like Whitney Houston.

Bertucci's also sponsors charity bike-a-thons and five mile races that employees, and even owner Joey Crugnale, participate in (keep training, Joey!). Management is also involved in reforestation and recycling as a sort of "giving back to nature" for the hardwood burned in the brick ovens. Watch for tabletop displays for Bertucci's next charity event!
